

ANTHROPOLOGY (ANTH)

ANTH-101 Biological Anthropology 3 Units (LEC 48-54)

This is an introductory course from a scientific perspective about human evolution and human biological diversity. This course includes discussions of human genetics, natural selection, living primates, fossil evidence of human evolutionary change, and modern human variation. This course is designed to improve a student's understanding of modern human diversity and the processes involved in our species adaptation. A field trip may be required.

Students with previous course work in the program may do special projects that involve research and special study. The actual nature of the project must be determined in consultation with the supervising instructor.

Prerequisite: Two Anthropology classes must be completed prior to enrollment; a contract must be completed with the instructor prior to enrollment.

Transfers to CSU onlyANTH-510 Archaeological Survey (formerly ANTH-215)*3 Units (LAB 96-108, LEC 16-18)

This course prepares students to professionally identify, locate, record and assess significance archaeological sites. Use of compass, GPS, and topographic maps will be stressed. This is an active field class which may require strenuous walking over rough terrain. (formerly ANTH 215)

Prerequisite/Corequisite: ANTH-104 or ANTH-115 (with a grade of C or better).

Transfers to CSU onlyANTH-520 Archaeological Excavation (formerly ANTH-205)*3 Units (LAB 96-108, LEC 16-18)

This course is about the systematic and legitimate recovery of artifacts from surface and/or buried archaeological sites. The focus is on techniques designed to preserve provenience and context of the artifacts for future scientific analysis. A field trip may be required. (formerly ANTH 205)

Prerequisite/Corequisite: ANTH-115 (with a grade of C or better).

Transfers to CSU onlyANTH-530 Archaeology Laboratory*3 Units (LAB 96-108, LEC 16-18)

This course is an introduction to the laboratory processing and preliminary analyses carried out in archaeological investigations. Students will learn to conserve and catalog artifacts collected from archaeological sites, and identify and classify various artifacts while handling them appropriately and protecting their provenience information. Students will also learn curation standards for managing archaeological collections and anticipate ethical issues surrounding illicit antiquities trading and the care of human remains and burial objects.

Prerequisite/Corequisite: ANTH-115 (with a grade of C or better) or ANTH-104 (with a grade of C or better).
