

EQUIVALENT COURSES TO ALLEVIATE SUBSTANDARD GRADES

Students may replace an unsatisfactory grade by repeating a course that has been revised in one of two ways: (a) the units of the revised course must be more than the units of the previous course; or (b) the units of the revised course must be one unit less than the units of the previous course. If the units of the revised course are two (2) or more units less than those of the previous course, then the student may not replace the unsatisfactory grade.